ABOUT US

Rubicon Exchange, a multi-utility application for your crypto essentials introduces RBX, a BEP-20 token on the Binance Smart Chain and ERC-20 token based on Ethereum smart chain that is set and ready to be your partner in surfing your way into the crypto universe. RBX is forecasted to have a maximum volume of 100 Million from which 45 Million would be in circulation across the prominent blockchain networks. 10 Million Token out of those would be gradually reacquired and burned to facilitate sustainability.

WHY CRYPTO?

The mad race for more comfort and structure saw mankind transition from the barter system to coins, then to currency notes which eventually led to the rise of banking systems. The advent of internet meant that we could run our financial errands from the palm of our hands.

To make things better and to tackle the somewhat lackluster nature of centralized banking systems, crypto currency paved way for a new form of currency that would see the ordinary man being in absolute control of their money.

UTILITIES

RBX

RBX is a de-centralized token launched by Rubicon Exchange which is designed to facilitate the user to exchange their BEP-20 tokens keeping full control and authority over them. Rubicon Exchange is a de-centralized exchange platform where the users are continually rewarded for transactions they make on it. Our re-purchase mechanism will steadily increase the value of the tokens with the supply being monitored and purchased back. This creates an ecosystem for rise in value and supply in control thereby propelling RBX to heights unprecedented.

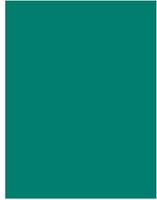

DE-FI GRANTS

Rubicon Exchange strives to grant De-Centralized Finance by the virtue of RBX Tokens. Charities on the blockchain network have thus far proven to be far more reliable compared to the conventional way of doing it as it promotes accountability and transparency. The elimination of intermediaries and middle-men ensures that the donations that come from the transaction fees are directly channeled towards people around the globe. The recipient on the other hand would neither have to go through the hassle of dealing with conciliators nor pay extortionate amounts of taxes and processing fees in availing the donation. Businesses aspiring for grants would need to fill an application as well as fulfill certain criteria, success at which would enable them to receive De-Fi grants for starting up or renovating their existing business model.

GAMING AND NFTs

RBX, in addition to the exchange platform and the de-fi token, is also working on a token based game where users would get an in-depth experience of existing in the digital universe where RBX would serve as a common median for exchange. This makes for a unique amalgam of earning and being entertained while doing something visibly productive.

The first batch of our NFTs, or non-fungible collectibles of digital art that have been envisioned to take the worlds of gaming, art and entertainment by storm are also nearing completion after which they would be up for trading in the blockchain network with RBX Tokens.
